

Figure 1: Architecture combines the complementary strengths of declarative programming and interactive relational learning through induction and reinforcement, for reasoning with and learning domain knowledge.